EHS Consulting

Helping You Put the Pieces Together

An effective safety program serves to anticipate, identify, and eliminate conditions or practices that could result in work-related injuries and illnesses, and should be specific to your work environment. No matter where you are with your safety program, we have services to get you started, help with your next step or help you achieve all of your EHS goals.

1

Management Commitment & Worker Participation

When it comes to your company's safety program, management should lead by example and encourage worker participation throughout the program's design and implementation. After all, it is at the worker's level where safety actually occurs. Once everyone is on board, you're ready to take the next steps!

2

Hazard Identification & Assessment

- Site Safety / Compliance Audits
- Hazard & Risk Assessment
- Job Hazard Analysis

3

Hazard Prevention & Control

- Safety Manual Development
- Emergency Response Plans
- Emergency Response Guide

4

Education & Training

- Training Needs Assessment
- Site Specific Curriculum Development
- Open Enrollment or Custom Training

5

Evaluation & Improvement

- Compliance Audit / Gap Analysis
- Safety Manual Review
- Safety Management Services

ETC's safety professionals are here to assist you with your company's Safety Program no matter where you are in the process. Contact us today if you need to implement, evaluate, or enhance your Environmental, Health and Safety Program.

As a growing small business in the construction industry, we knew we needed help in developing and improving our safety and health program. Our lack of experience and familiarity with the field made this a daunting task and I'm so glad we found ETC Compliance Solutions to provide safety consultant services. They demonstrated excellent knowledge and expertise in helping us determine the applicable standards and best practices for our operations. The safety manual provided has allowed us to confidently pursue more opportunities while continuing to maintain a safe workplace for our employees. Not only did ETC provide a quality product to us, they have established themselves as our preferred resource for all our safety needs moving forward and have proven to be a valued partner in the continued success of our business.
